NATURAL DOCTOR "EDAS"
IN THE SERVICE OF THE HEALTH OF RUSSIANS

Dear compatriots!

Scientific and production medical and pharmaceutical company "EDAS" was established in 1994 and is the leader of the domestic market of natural medicines.

The company's product range includes 94 names of natural medicines, six dosage forms and eight names of biologically active additives.

All medicines produced by the company have passed the full state registration procedure, including the necessary clinical trials, and are included in the State Register of Medicinal Remedies of the Russian Federation.

Unlike the commonly used synthesized drugs, natural medicines produced by "EDAS" are natural for the body, so they have no side effects, are safe for all ages and are available without a doctor's prescription.

A special feature of the "EDAS" range is the possibility of using them, due to their compatibility with other drugs, in integrated treatment and medical rehabilitation schemes.

Natural products of the company "EDAS" are widely used for the prevention of diseases at any age.

Due to high efficiency and safety for use at any age, as well as the low cost, medicines under the brand name "EDAS", known in the domestic pharmaceutical market since 1994, have gained wide popularity not only among the Russians.

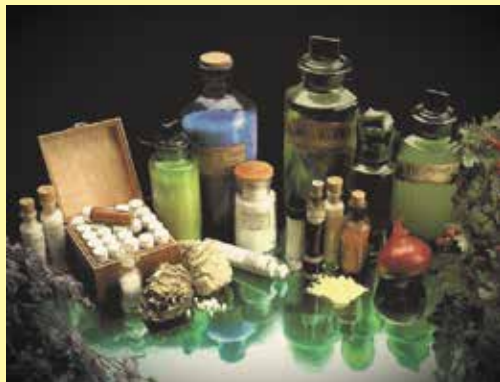

Executive Director of the company "EDAS"

HOMEOPATHY – MEDICINE OF THE TWENTY FIRST CENTURY

Homeopathy is a medical method that has been used for more than 200 years in the treatment of various diseases in children and adults, including in the rehabilitation period, and is indispensable in the prevention of diseases. Homeopathic treatment of chronic diseases is widely used both in Russia and in many other developed countries of the world.

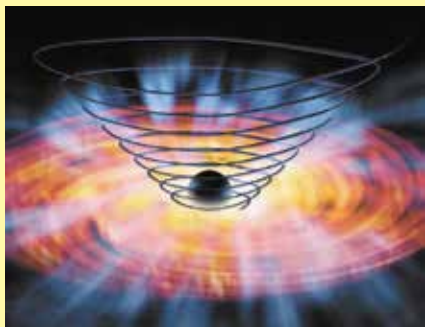

Homeopathy is a medical method of health-improving bioenergetic therapy, which uses energoinformational doses of homeopathic medicines (GLS) that increase, through bioresonance action, the energy level (life force) of the body components and thereby provide energetic harmonization of bioprocesses in the entire body. As a result of the action of GLS, certain pathogenic factors are eliminated, which are the target of the action of the applied GLS.

In modern medicine, in order to normalize the functions of internal organs and other body components, the use of bioresonance therapy is becoming increasingly popular, including the use of GLS. This method of influencing the pathological processes occurring in the body is carried out by the action of electromagnetic fields of GLS of a certain frequency on pathogenic factors that cause, including infectious diseases, chronic and difficult-to-treat conditions.

MATTER IS A SUBSTANCE, A FIELD, AND A VACUUM

There is no substance as such in the ordinary sense of the word, but there is an electromagnetic field (EMF) of the source substance with certain characteristics: frequency, wavelength and power of transported energy.

The EMF of the substance is extracted, using potentiation technology, which, as is often confused, is not a dilution process, but a technological process of stepwise dynamization. The essence of the process consists in the application of external energy when rubbing the initial drug substance and/or vigorously shaking its solution at each stage (step) of the preparation of GLS. The more steps of potentiation, the higher the energy capacity of the GLS.

A single-component GLS is the EMF of a single substance, and a multi-component (complex) homeopathic medicine (KGLS) is a set of EMF that do not interact with each other, due to different frequency characteristics, of several starting substances from which it is prepared.

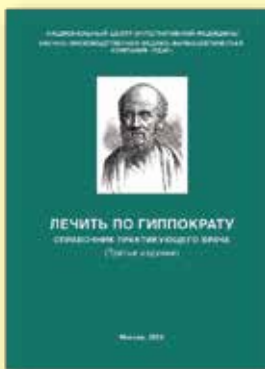

The frequency interaction between certain (similar) EMF is widely used in radio and television broadcasting, as well as in mobile phones and in many other technical means. This interaction is based on a physical process called resonance, and in biological systems it is called bioresonance.

THE PRINCIPLE OF ACTION OF HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES IS SIMILAR TO THE OPERATION OF MOBILE COMMUNICATION

When implementing mobile communication, the radio frequency signal from the transmitter phone, through the base station, finds the radio frequency setting of the subscriber's phone and a connection is established between them.

In the GLS, the EMF carrier of the initial drug substance with a certain frequency is the dosage forms: tablets, granules, alcohol solutions, etc., and the body performs the functions of a "base station", in which there is a set of EMF components with different frequencies, and the bioresonance interaction occurs between the frequency characteristics of the GLS and the component of the body with a similar frequency.

During the bioresonance effect of the GLS on the body, the energy level (life force) of a particular component and the body as a whole increases, which contributes to the energy harmonization of bioprocesses, thus eliminating certain pathogenic factors, which is the focus of this GLS.

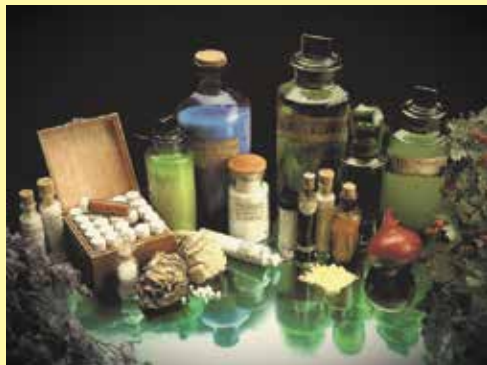

ADVANTAGES OF COMPLEX HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES

Pharmacological action of complex (multicomponent) homeopathic remedies (CGLS) is due to the cumulative combined effect of active monocomponents included in their formulation, based on many years of successful practical experience of use by leading domestic and foreign homeopathic doctors, as well as on the results of clinical studies.

Advantages of KGLS produced by "EDAS":

- possibility of use in adults and children both for the prevention and treatment of diseases, including chronic ones, because they have no side effects and allergic reactions;
- possibility of their combined use with other drugs, which allows for both symptomatic and etiological therapy – treating both symptoms and causes of disease;
- absence of addiction and "withdrawal syndrome";
- absence of effect on the ability to drive vehicles and operate any mechanisms.

The range of products of the company "EDAS" is very convenient for the formation of home family first-aid kits, since the manufactured medicines:

- are means of over-the-counter release;
- have a long shelf life (24-60 months);
- there are no requirements for special storage conditions;
- can be used for all family members – adults and children;
- have an economical packaging – 1 package of granules contains 120 doses, 1 bottle of drops contains 100 doses, which at average dosages of 5 granules / drops per reception is designed for a course of treatment for at least 1 month.

When using homeopathic medicines, you should consider that they have a faster and more effective impact if you start taking them immediately, at the first symptoms of the disease. The duration of treatment depends on the stage of the disease and the individual characteristics of the patient. When treating chronic diseases, the initial course of therapy averages at least 3-6 months. The dosage of the drug and the frequency of use is calculated depending on the age of the patient, as well as the individual characteristics of the course of the disease.

In the process of long-term clinical studies of KGLS "EDAS" in the complex treatment of various acute and chronic diseases it was established on the evidence base that the spectrum of action of these products is not limited to the indications specified in the instructions for medical use, since the pathogenesis of the substances included in the preparations, cover a wider range of effects on the body (see Materia Medica of homeopathic medicines of W. Bericke, J. T. Kent).

COMPARATIVE TABLE OF THE ACTION OF KGLS "EDAS" AND ALLOPATHIC DRUGS

Homeopathic medicines	Allopathic medicines
Absence of negative side effects and allergic reactions	A wide range of side effects and allergic reactions
Absence of addiction and withdrawal syndrome	Presence of addiction and withdrawal syndrome
Impact on the body according to the principle of regulation and correctio	Impact on the body according to the principle of substitution, compensation, suppression.
Improving the overall immunity of the patient during treatment	Possible suppression of the patient's immunity during treatment
Effectiveness in acute cases is comparable and higher than allopathic therapy	High efficiency in some acute cases
Possibility of effective treatment of chronic diseases	Absence of treatment for chronic diseases
Safety of long-term therapy due to the absence of negative side effects	Restrictions on the duration of therapy due to the presence of negative side effects
Possibility of use for different age groups of patients	Restriction of use for different age groups of patients

RULES FOR THE USE OF "EDAS" NATURAL PRODUCTS

General rules for the use of complex (multicomponent) homeopathic medicines (KGLS). KGLS "EDAS" for internal use are used outside a meal, preferably before meals. Before use, in order to increase the level of activity of the drip form of drugs, it is recommended to shake the contents of the bottle intensively 10-15 times in the up-down direction.

In case of acute diseases. It is recommended to dissolve the daily dose of drops or granules in a half cup of water and take 1 teaspoon of the solution every 10-15 minutes during the day, until the condition improves. Then go to the reception scheme, in accordance with the instructions for medical use.

Preventive dosage. It is recommended to use the prescribed dosage 1 time a day. In some cases, the doctor may prescribe an individual dosage.

The use of drops. A single dosage for adults is 5, 7, 9 drops (one dose), depending on the age and severity of the disease, unless otherwise prescribed by the doctor. For preventive purposes – 1 dose 1 time a day; in the initial and severe stages of the disease – 1 dose 3-5 times a day. It is acceptable to take drops dissolved in 3-5 ml of warm water, holding it in your mouth before swallowing.

The use of granules. A single dosage for adults is 5, 7, 9 granules (one dose), depending on the age and severity of the disease, unless otherwise prescribed by the doctor. Granules are taken sublingually (put under the tongue), until completely dissolved, or dissolved in a small amount of warm water: for preventive purposes – 1 dose 1 time a day; in the initial and apparent stages of the disease – 1 dose 3-5 times a day.

The use of syrups. A single dosage of the syrup is 1 dessert spoon 2-3 times a day, which is swallowed with water, unless otherwise prescribed by the doctor. It is acceptable to dissolve the syrup in warm water.

The use of ointments. A small amount of ointment is applied to the skin areas of the lesion 2-3 times a day (possibly more often, as needed). Intensive rubbing is not required.

The use of opodeldoc. A small amount of opodeldoc is applied to the skin areas in the areas to be treated, 2-3 times a day (possibly more often, as needed).

Rules and shelf-life. KGLS "EDAS" should be stored: out of the reach of children at room temperature, in places out of the reach of strong electromagnetic fields and direct sunlight. The shelf-life is indicated on the package and is 24-60 months. Vials and stoppers of one drug are not recommended for storing other drugs.

MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND MEDICAL INDUSTRY

ORDER

No.335 of November 29, 1995

On the use of the method of homeopathy in practical health care

Recently, homeopathy as one of the directions of clinical medicine has become widespread in medical practice. In the Russian Federation, about 10 thousand doctors who have completed special courses use this method in their activities. Board and Bureau of the Academic Council

The Ministry of Health and Medical Industry of Russia allowed the use of the method of homeopathy in the state health care system (27.12.94, Protocol No. 26).

In order to further improve the study of the method of homeopathy in the Russian Federation, I order:

1. Allow the use of the method of homeopathy in practical health care.
 2. Approve the regulatory documentation regulating the activities of a doctor using the method of homeopathy:
 - 2.1. The regulation on the doctor using the homeopathic method.
 - 2.2. Rules for the release of homeopathic medicines.
 - 2.3. Requirements for filling out the medical card of an outpatient patient by a doctor using the homeopathic method.
 3. The management of educational institutions (N. N. Volodin) should provide postgraduate training of medical, pediatric and dental specialists in homeopathy in accordance with the requests of the health management bodies of the subjects of the Federation and health care institutions.
 4. Assign to the Russian Medical Academy of Postgraduate Education (L. K. Moshetova) the functions of an educational and methodological center for homeopathy in order to control the quality of training of doctors and pharmacists, their accreditation, expert evaluation of the activities of a specialist using the method of homeopathy. (Deadline-01.03.96)
 5. To organize a Russian scientific and organizational center for Homeopathy on the basis of the Research Institute of Traditional Methods of Treatment of the Ministry of Health and Medical Industry of the Russian Federation. (Due date-01.03.96)
- Instruct the Russian Medical Academy of Postgraduate Education (L. K. Moshetova), the Research Institute of Traditional Methods of Treatment of the Ministry of Health and Medical Industry of the Russian Federation (V. G. Kukes) to develop Regulations on the centers. (The deadline for execution is 15.02.96).
6. Assign the state quality control of homeopathic medicines on the territory of the Russian Federation and the creation of the Russian Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia to the State Research Institute for Standardization and Control of Medicines, the Research Institute of Pharmacy of the Ministry of Health and Medical Industry of the Russian Federation and the Laboratory for Standardization and Control of medicines of health authorities of the subjects of the Federation.
 7. I reserve control over the implementation of this order.

First Deputy Minister A.D. Tsaregorodtsev.

HOMEOPATHY – THE OFFICIAL METHOD OF TREATMENT

Homeopathy is a medical method of treatment, rehabilitation and disease prevention, not a psychological influence on the patient, which has been proven by more than 200 years of practical usage. The use of the method of homeopathy is legally permitted in many developed countries of the world.

The use of the method of homeopathy in the Russian Federation is permitted by the Order of the Ministry of Health of the Russian Federation No. 335 of 29.11.1995. "On the use of homeopathy in practical health care" Homeopathic medicines, like other medicines, after passing the procedure established by the Federal Law of the Russian Federation "On drug circulation" are included in the State Register of Medicines of the Russian Federation.

Clinical homeopathy does not oblige the patient to choose between different medical methods, especially when it comes to life-threatening diseases (oncology, asthma, angina). Simultaneous or sequential use of homeopathic complexes with allopathic (synthesized) drugs makes it possible to reduce the dosages of the latter and increase the effectiveness of treatment.

Integrative therapy is widely used by modern doctors to improve the effectiveness of treatment, by combining conventional treatment with medications, usually with complex drugs "EDAS" and non-drug methods (herbal medicine, physiotherapy, reflexology, osteopathy, etc.).

A HOMEOPATH IN RUSSIA IS NECESSARILY A DOCTOR!

Clinical homeopathy, as well as classical, is the area of responsibility of medical specialists who have specialized education and have been trained in the use of the method of homeopathy in special courses.

The reception at the homeopathic doctor is fundamentally no different from the usual medical reception: taking into account the diagnostic data, homeopathic complexes are usually prescribed and the need for their combination with conventional medications is established.

HOMEOPATHY IN WORLD MEDICINE:

The market for homeopathic remedies in Europe, according to the European Coalition of Homeopathic Producers (ECHAMP), is growing by 6.4 % each year and in 2015 it was 1.24 billion euros.

In Germany and Spain, homeopathy is used by 60 % of the population, in Brasilia by 70 %, and in France by more than 80 %.

Germany by right is considered the birthplace of homeopathy – the founder of this medical principle, Friedrich Samuel Hahnemann, was born there and homeopathy is an officially recognized medical method.

Since 1854 in Great Britain the homeopathy has been under the patronage of the royal family, and its attending physician since Queen Victoria's time is exclusively a homeopathic doctor. Homeopaths are trained in the London School of Homeopathy which was founded in 1850. Budget for the development of homeopathy reaches about 4 million pounds sterling a year.

In France, the cost of homeopathic drugs is reimbursed by the state by 30 %, the rest – by supplementary medical insurance. National Federation of medical societies accounts for around 6,000 medical homeopaths. In the French Association of Homeopathic Research the scientific work is being carried out, homeopathic magazines are being published.

Greece is represented by the International School of Homeopathy, founded by Nobel Prize laureate J. Vitulkas. The degree of Master of Homeopathy, obtained in the Aegean University is recognized in the European Community.

In the USA, , homeopathic medicines are officially included in the State Pharmacopoeia. Regional public health care associations are united in Washington National Public Health Center.

In India, homeopathy is an official medical science which trains around 7,500 students every year. The country has 10 pharmacy concerns, approximately 2,000 medical clinics and 80 hospitals, and it publishes a large number of magazines in English and Hindi.

Homeopathy in Ukraine has existed for 165 years – its history began in 1835, when the first homeopathic pharmacy was opened in Kiev.

Homeopathy is officially recognized in Kazakhstan and doctors often prescribe homeopathic medicines to patients. The homeopathic medical association in cooperation with the Ministry of Health has developed a training plan, according to which homeopathy is taught at the Almaty Medical Institute of Traditional Medicine.

HOMEOPATHY IN RUSSIA: HISTORY AND MODERNITY

In the nineteenth century homeopathy in Russia was presented as a method used not only by doctors, but also by advanced nobles: in the novel "Fathers and Sons" by I. S. Turgenev, an interest in homeopathy treatment was noted, and in "War and Peace" by L. N. Tolstoy, homeopathy treatment is shown as part of the life of noble families. V. I. Dal, the author of the "Explanatory Dictionary of the Living Great Russian Language", was not only a well-known writer, but also an excellent doctor who used homeopathic remedies in his practice.

Admiral N. S. Mordvinov, well-known for his state services, was impressed by the success of homeopathic treatment of cholera, and in 1831 proposed a project to introduce homeopathy into state medicine.

In 1896, two homeopathic pharmacies and a homeopathic hospital were opened in Moscow, and Societies of Homeopathic Doctors were established, including representatives of the royal family, clergy, and deputies of the State Duma.

During the Soviet period, homeopathy was repeatedly declared an anti-scientific method, but, nevertheless, homeopathic doctors continued to treat, defending the method with their high professionalism.

In 1991, the Ministry of Health of the Russian Federation issued the order No. 115, authorizing the establishment of homeopathic pharmacies and educational activities in the field of homeopathy

In 1995, the order of the Ministry of Health of the Russian Federation No. 335 "On the use of the method of homeopathy in practical health care" recognized homeopathy as an official therapeutic method.

Homeopathic medicines are registered on a par with allopathic medicines and are included in the State Register of Medicines of the Russian Federation.

There is an official homeopathy training program. Since 1997, homeopathic doctors have defended more than 200 PhD and doctoral theses. Since 1999, All-Russian congresses of homeopaths and international conferences have been held regularly.

In 2010, EDAS initiated the establishment of the National Council for Homeopathy, which includes the Russian Homeopathic Society, the Russian Homeopathic Association and other legal and physical entities.
